Red Lion Area Senior High School, Red Lion, Pennsylvania
Published by the Senior Class

Foreword

Since the beginning of time, men, whether they were barbarous or civilized, could not live together for any length of time without quarreling.

Today, our world is pressed with strategic problems which even common sense cannot solve. Peace is a utopia which some human beings tried and still are trying to accomplish. Although tranquillity is an idealism, negotiations, which men have formed, have brought the universe closer to this one ideal. Through the knowledge gained from books, lectures and experiences we have learned to compromise towards harmony. Only through education can we attain this goal. Therefore, let us strive for peace through education.

Faculty & Administration

Mr. Raymond E. Gibb, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Supervising Principal . . . Mr. Gibb is a new figure to Red Lion this year. As head of the school system Mr. Gibb finds many duties beyond the walls of our own high school, be they educational or civic.

To The Students

Yours is a privilege, yours is a challenge, yours is a responsibility. You have been fortunate in that you have been privileged to live in a country whose basic ideologies protect and encourage the rights and dignities of its individuals. You have been further blessed by being privileged to live in a community that upholds these traditions and is willing to give of its time, talent, and substance in order to afford each individual the opportunity to strive for the greatest success of which he is capable.

The provision of opportunities does not guarantee your success either as a citizen or in your chosen vocation. Each person must, in the final analysis, meet the challenge personally. What each person accomplishes depends on the measure of effort and dedication he is willing to put forth. Having the opportunity to succeed is not enough. Each of you must work to bring these opportunities to fruition.

With every privilege comes a responsibility. It will be your personal responsibility to work and to live in such a manner that you will have done your part toward the perpetuation of these basic principals and ideals.

To each of you, and particularly to the senior class, best wishes for continued success.

Sincerely yours,

Raymond E. Gibb

Supervisors

Overseeing the operations of the Red Lion Area School System, Mr. Raymond E. Gibb, our new supervising principal, exhausts many hours preparing the functions of the school district to run smoothly. In previous years, Mr. Gibb fulfilled the position of assistant superintendent of the New Castle Area School District.

Having been principal of the Red Lion Area Senior High School for the past six years, Mr. Thomas E. Zerbe has superintended the activities of the students and faculty. Among his daily tasks are scheduling classes and disciplining culprits.

To Our Students

You have all become old enough to look seriously to the position you will occupy in an adult world.That place will be influenced by conditions over which you have little control but which will have a serious effect on you. To some extent you may become the victim of the population explosion, a rapidly developing technology, the discovery of new forms of energy or the vast extension of knowledge. The rise of new nations and a rivalry of conflicting ideologies will, no doubt, affect you in your day.

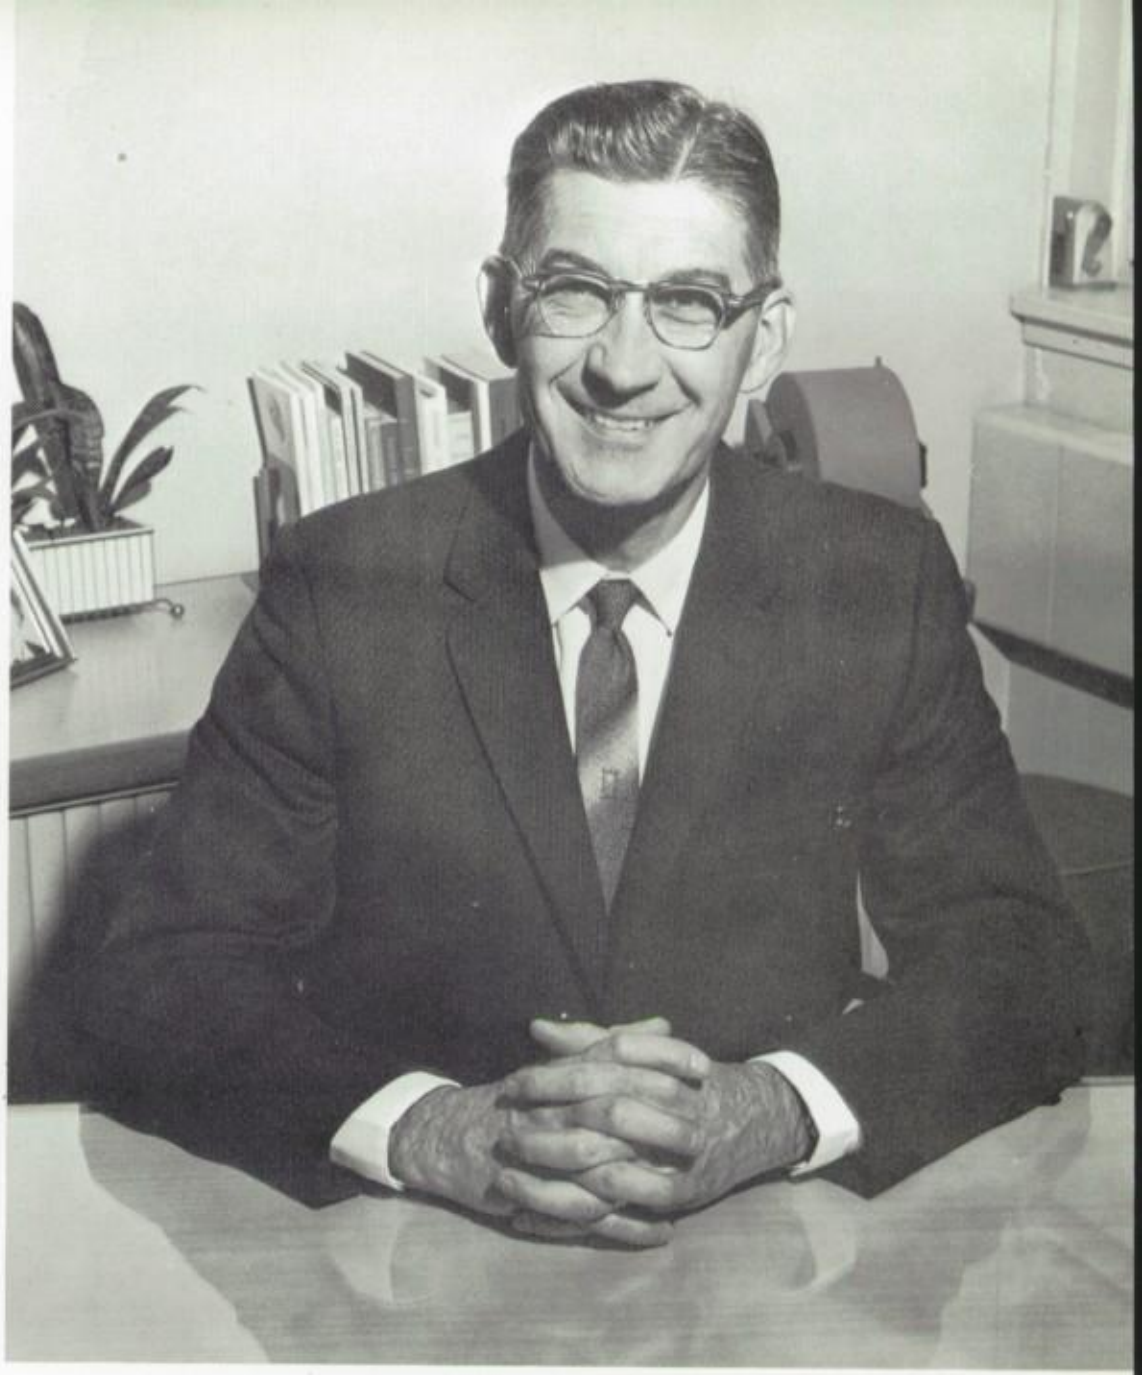
Our school exists only to help you prepare to meet these challenges. While basic skills will always be important, they will not furnsh adequate background for the competition you will face. You will need a solid ability to think, to evaluate and to recognize trends or changes. You will need a broad base of interest, abilities and skills through which you can become a part of the most adaptable generation to people the earth.

We encourage your curiosity and inquiry into the many kinds of disciplines our school program and the extra-curriculum offer; but in all your choosing be sure your quest is quality-centered, serious and academically sound. You can build a rewarding future on nothing less.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas E. Zerbe

Thomas E. Zerbe



Mr. Thomas E. Zerbe, B.S., M.A. . . . High School Principal . . . Mr. Zerbe is in his sixth year with the senior high Lions. He is always on hand to take care of the students' problems.

Administrative Assistants

Mr. Martin F. Miller, administrative assistant, is found busy at his desk. Mr. Miller has many varied duties to perform in the course of normal days. In his spare time he enjoys building his classical library.

Administrative assistant, Mr. Robert P. Tschop, is shown checking some of his records. Supplies, to meet the demands of the school, and transportation keep him busy. However, he finds time for reading, one of his favorite hobbies.

Although taking care of the school records occupies much of Mr. Carl E. Seitz's time, he also enjoys listening to music and hunting.

Mrs. Flo Harbaugh, secretary for the administrative staff, aids the Red Lion personnel with the clerical tasks of the school.

Faculty

Although our building contains mostly students, what would our school be without teachers? Teachers have many responsibilities, perhaps more than many people realize. Along with educating the student, they discipline and train him for the future. Many of them go out of their way merely to help a particular student with a problem. The memories that we take with us after graduation, include not only the school and the activities but also the teachers.

Mrs. Hangen's classes were honored to have a Korean student from Millersville State College, Eun Ja Kim speak to them on Korean customs. Miss Kim visited with the Hangens over the Thanksgiving holidays.

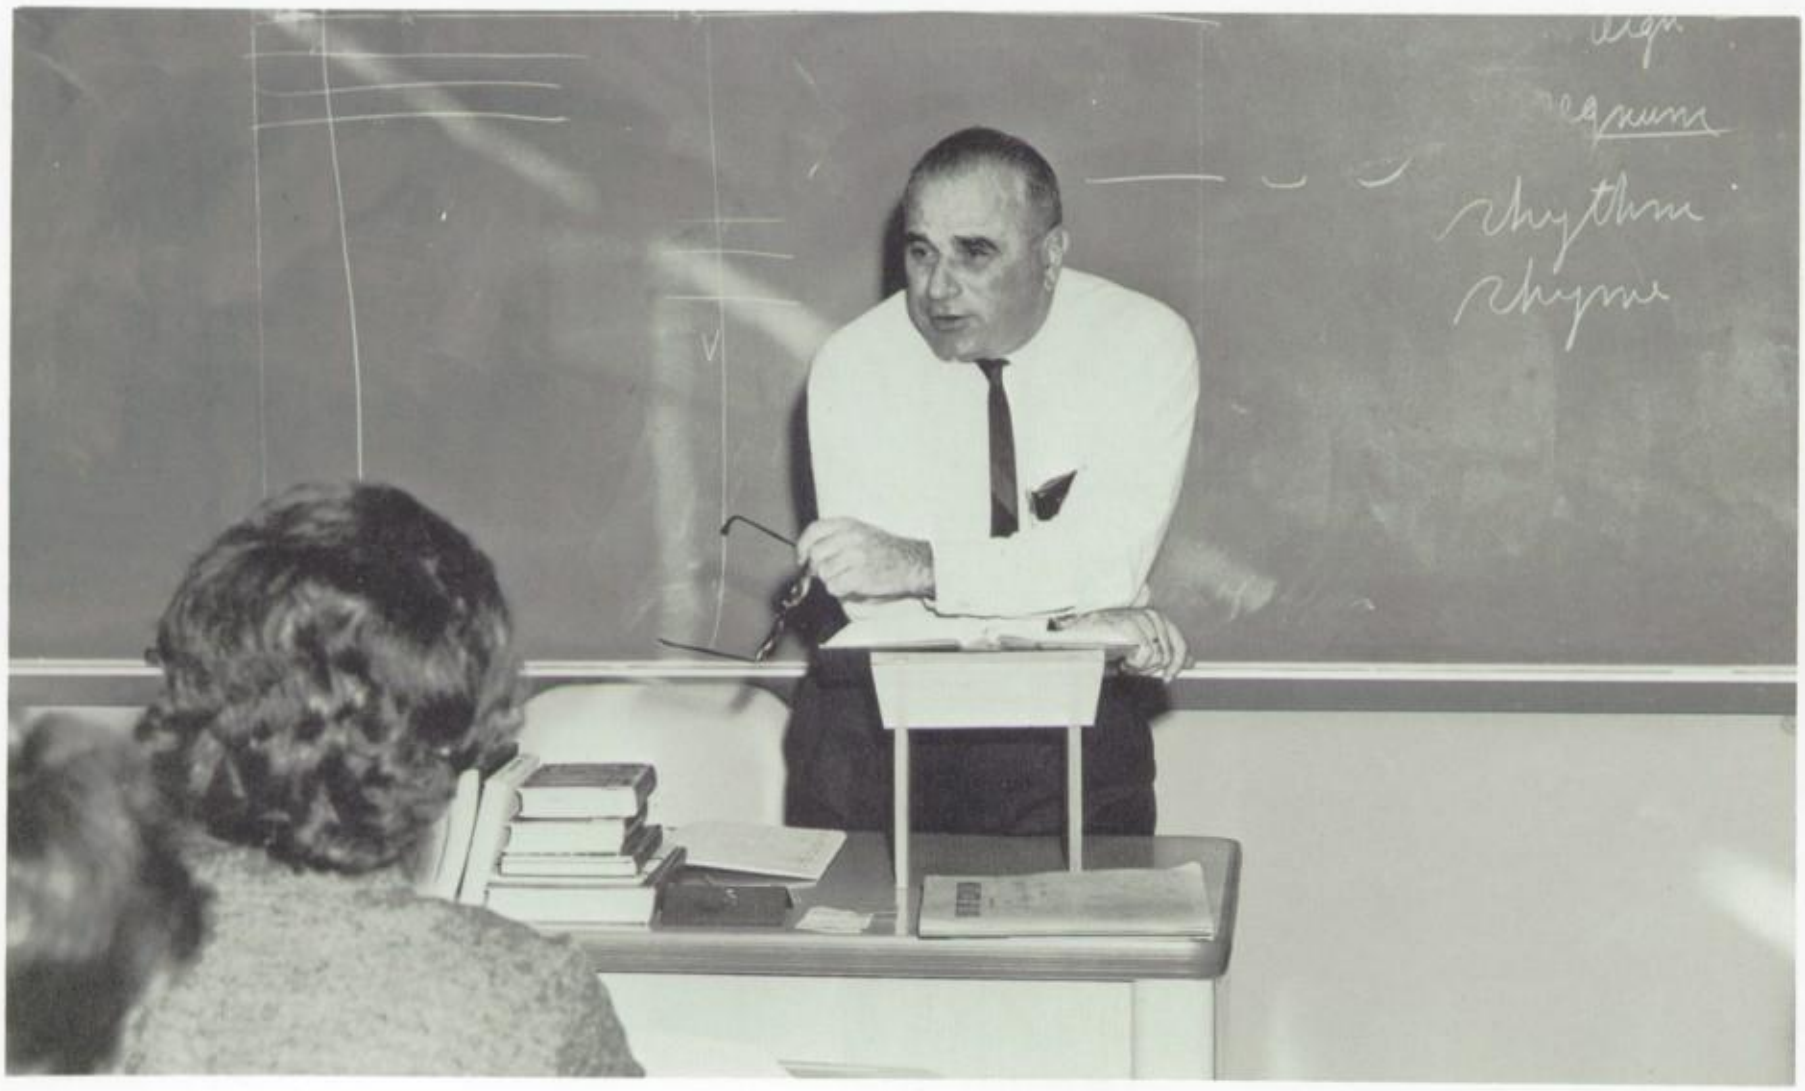
Mrs. Dorothy Adams
Helen E. Clevenger
David Coren

Mrs. A. Irene Hangen
Mrs. Ella Jane Hess

Adams, Dorothy, B.S. . . . English, Music . . . Mixed Chorus, Girls' Chorus.
Clevenger, Helen, A.B., M.A. . . . English, Latin . . . Junior Classical League Advisor.
Coren, David, B.S. . . . English.
Hangen, Irene, A.B. . . . English . . . Junior Classical League Advisor.
Hess, Ella Jane, B.S. . . . English . . . LION Advisor.

Best of luck to a nice student,
Ella Jane Hess

One of the most important departments of our school is the English Department. Mr. David Coren has a great love for literature and good books. Therefore, he finds teaching this subject an enjoyable experience. In this particular incident we find Mr. Coren involved in a discussion of 15th century literature.



Marie Keeports
Phyllis A. Lippman
Naomi M. Myers

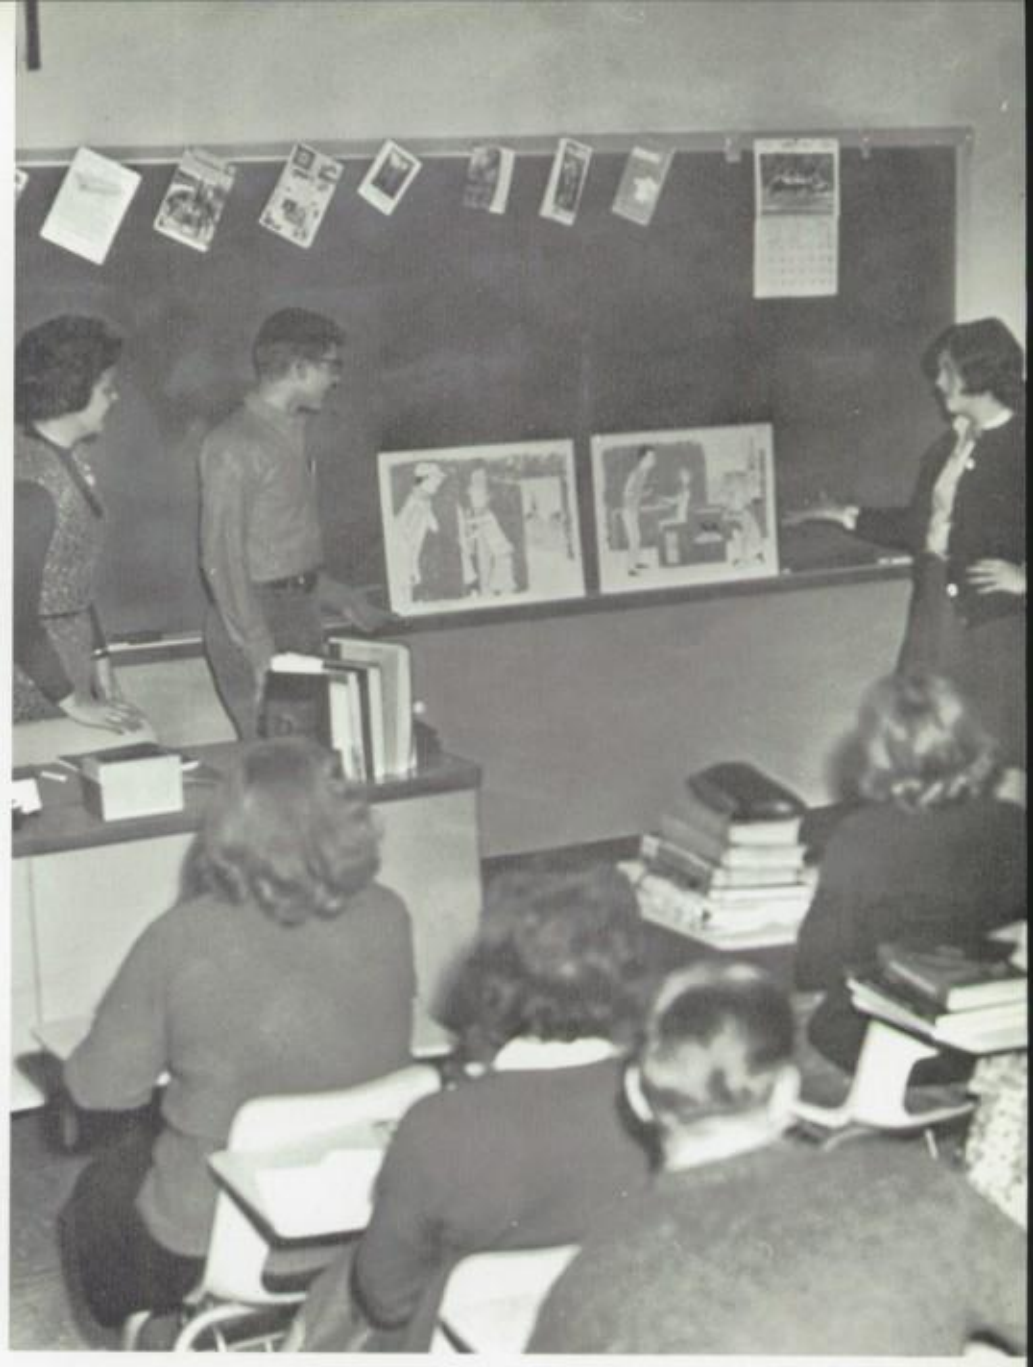
Linda S. Nonemaker

Keeports, Marie, B.A., M.A. . . . English.
Lippman, Phyllis, A., B.A. . . . English . . . LEONID Advisor.
Myers, Naomi M., B.S. . . . English . . . Freshman Class Advisor.
Nonemaker, Linda S., B.S. . . . French.

Taking dictation is a familiar routine for French II students. Miss Nonemaker pauses as the students write a sentence which has been read to them in French.

Comma rules are a problem of English grammar with most students. Miss Keeports explains these rules to one of her many English classes.

Mr. Wolf, a new personality at Red Lion, teaches English and directs the Senior play. In this particular instance, Mr. Wolf is explaining a reading exercise to Roger Koons.



One of the most interesting subjects in our school is French. Two students of Mrs. Stover's class take active part in the study of dialogue as they act the parts of the characters in the pictures.

Mrs. Isabel Starke

Mrs. Melanie Stover

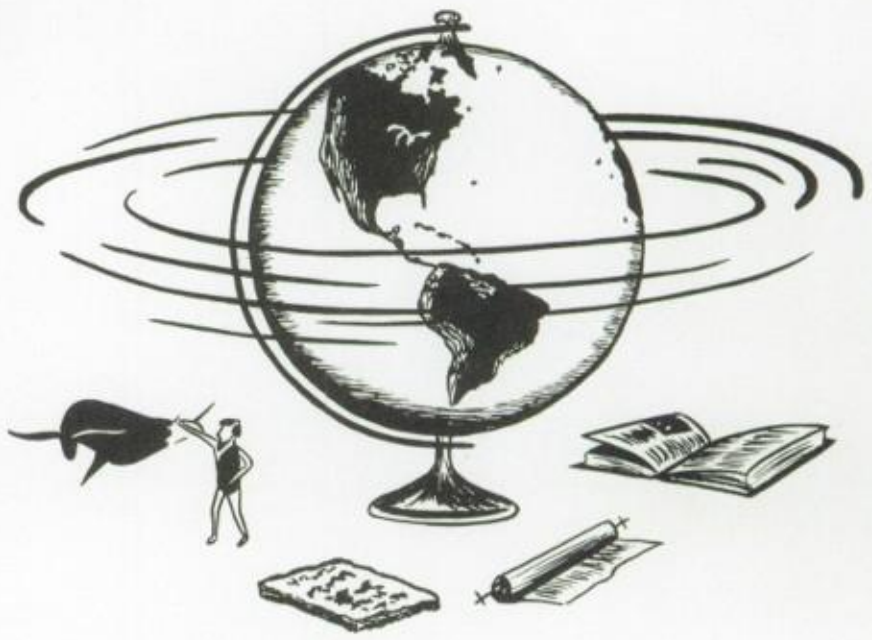
Hangen, Paul I., A.B. . . . Civics, Political Science.
Jones, Donald, B.S. . . . World History, American History, Civics.



Election day brings varied discussions to many of the social studies classes. Here Mr. Fritz instructs one of his senior Political Science classes in the newer methods of voting. Jill Toomey gets a chance to try her hand at the process.

Mr. Tome looks at many of the World History projects made by his tenth grade students. All of the students are required to construct a project in order to pass the course.

Mr. Rhine teaches the locations of early Indian civilizations to a sophomore World History class.

Myers, Harold M., B.S., M.Ed. . . . American History, Economics.
Rhine, Carlin R., A.B. . . . American History, World History.
Shellenberger, Dale L., A.B. . . . World History, Civics . . . Assistant Football Coach, Sophomore Class Advisor.

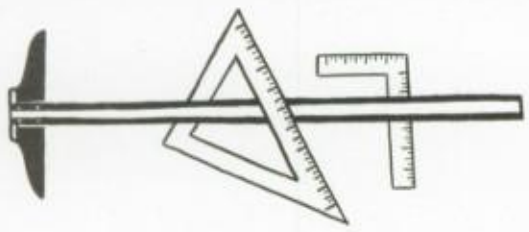
Withers, Lowell R., B.S. . . . Industrial Arts, Metal, Mechanical Drawing.

Yorks, Ward S., B.S., M.Ed. . . . School Printing, Graphic Arts.



During shop class, Robert Smith turns out metal bolts from the metal lathe. Interested in Industrial Arts, Robert parallels his skills to his outside work.

Mr. Withers lends a helping hand to Bill Wise during one of his interesting Mechanical Drawing classes. This class is only one of the many practical arts classes that teach our students the fundamentals of various industrial occupations.

Lynn Conrad, Bruce Heffner and Charles Snyder work on a combined project for F.F.A. class. This bird house is to be erected on our school grounds.

Mr. John Myers demonstrates a compression test to these interested vocational agricultural boys. Besides learning the functions of several farm machines, the boys also learn the care of farm animals and study various phases of farm life.

Mrs. Aleta S. Ehrhart

Stamets, Gordon A., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Personal Typing, Commercial Typing, Shorthand.

Yinger, Jay P., B.S. . . . Retail Selling, Rapid Calculation, General Business, Economic Geography.

Listening attentively as Mr. Stamets dictates a lesson, these girls, Lona Beaverson and Joyce Lane, take shorthand.

Members of this office practice class operate the telephone as Mrs. Ehrhart presents to them various problems that might arise in a real office. Lona Beaverson and Linda Rodgers smile as they listen attentively over the telephone.

Explaining one of the fundamentals of arithmetic to the members of her Business Math class, Mrs. Miller teaches the many important phases of arithmetic.

Mrs. Phyllis Horner
Mrs. Florence Uhler
Mrs. Ruby Yoder

Horner, Phyllis A., B.S. . . . Home Economics . . . Good Grooming Club.

Uhler, Florence, B.S. . . . Home Economics . . . Future Homemakers.

Yoder, Ruby, M.Ed. . . . Home Economics.

Winey, Charles W., B.A. . . . Art . . . Art Club, Prom Decorations, Senior Class Play Setting.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Horner, the girls in the Home Economics classes learn the fine points of homemaking. Here Brenda Lartz and Janet Henry learn to operate the ironer while other members of the class observe.

Mrs. Smith, Mr. Winey, and Mr. Johnson have the pleasure of serving as judges for the annual Christmas door decorating contest.

Athletic Supervision

All our faculty members keep up with the news! Every morning Mr. Nitchkey takes time out to read the daily newspaper in the library.

Oh, dear! Who goofed? We don't know, but whoever it was, he certainly is getting an ear-bending from Mr. Fitzkee.

Fitzkee, Ronald, M.Ed. . . . Health, Physical Education . . . Varsity Club, Football, Baseball.

Nitchkey, Charles R., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Physical Education, Health, Director of Athletics.

Mitchell, Nancy Ann, B.S. . . . Physical Education, Health . . . Cheerleaders.

Smith, Ernestine, B.A. . . . Physical Education, Health . . . Dancing Club.

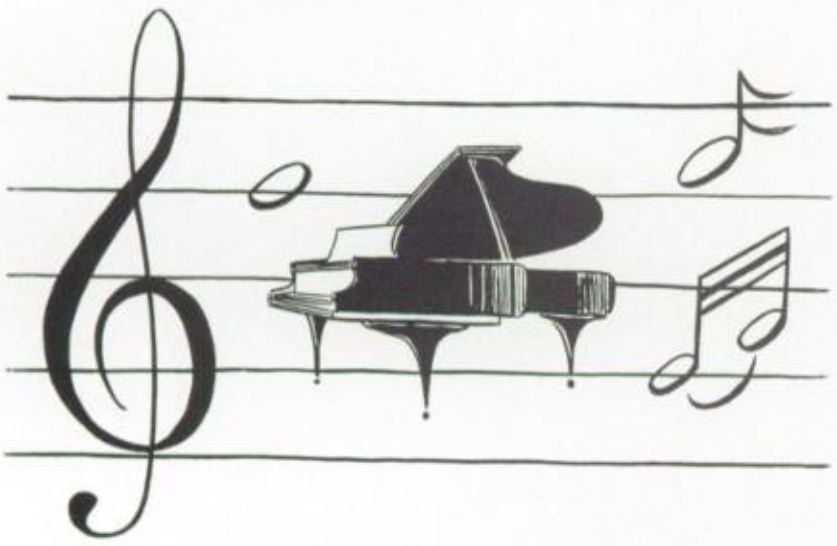
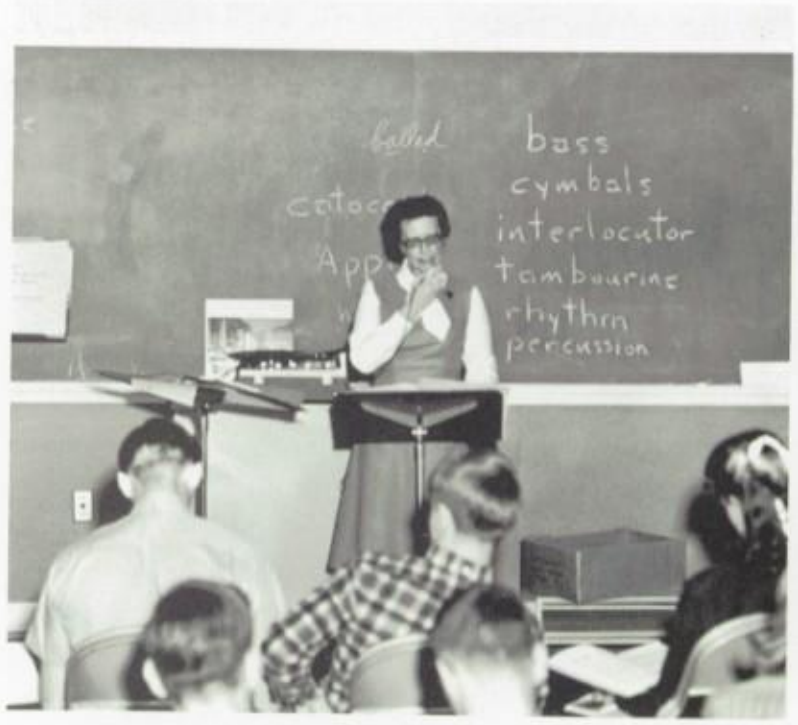
Sheckart, Edna, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Guidance . . . Future Teachers' Club.

Sheckart, Theodore, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Guidance . . . National Honor Society.

Ward, George A., B.S., M.Ed. . . . General Music, Instrumental Music . . . Majorettes, Color Guard, Band, Orchestra, Dance Band, Boys' Chorus.

"Buckle up for safety!" Mr. Johnson gives advice to future drivers, Jill Toomey and David Wert, during a practice driving session.





Mrs. Adams relates music culture to these freshmen students, who are required to take the music course.

Does sticking your tongue out add to ones height? Bill Waughtel's height is being measured by the school nurse, Patsy Rexroth.

Mrs. Sheckart looks over a few important papers with her secretary, June Miller. Miss Miller helps to lighten the many chores of both counselors and thus enables them to spend more time with the students.

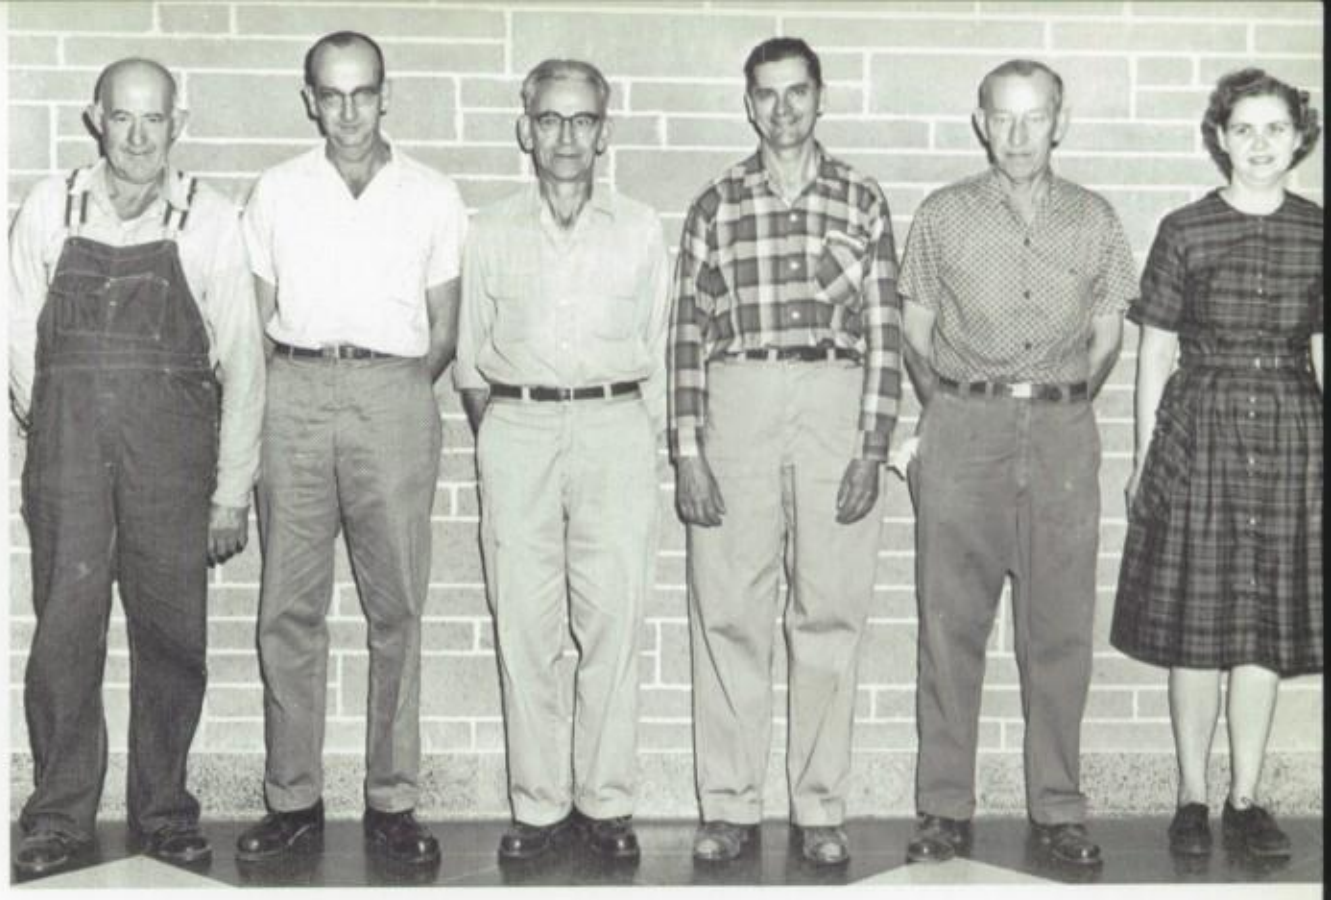
Cooks and Janitors

Administration, faculty and students depend upon the cafeteria staff. They prepare a well-balanced, nutritive meal each day school is in session. Whether stormy or clear, our nine cooks come to the school to prepare the large quantities of food necessary to feed the hungry students. Not only do they prepare the food but also clean the entire cafeteria after the three lunch sessions.

Likewise, our vigorous janitors clean the school. Among their daily chores are dusting classrooms, washing windows and lavatories and repairing articles about the school. Therefore the efficiency of our school has a great deal to do with the cooks and janitors.

One of the relaxing times in the school day is lunch time. Here a group of underclassmen await their dinners as the lunch line slowly progresses.

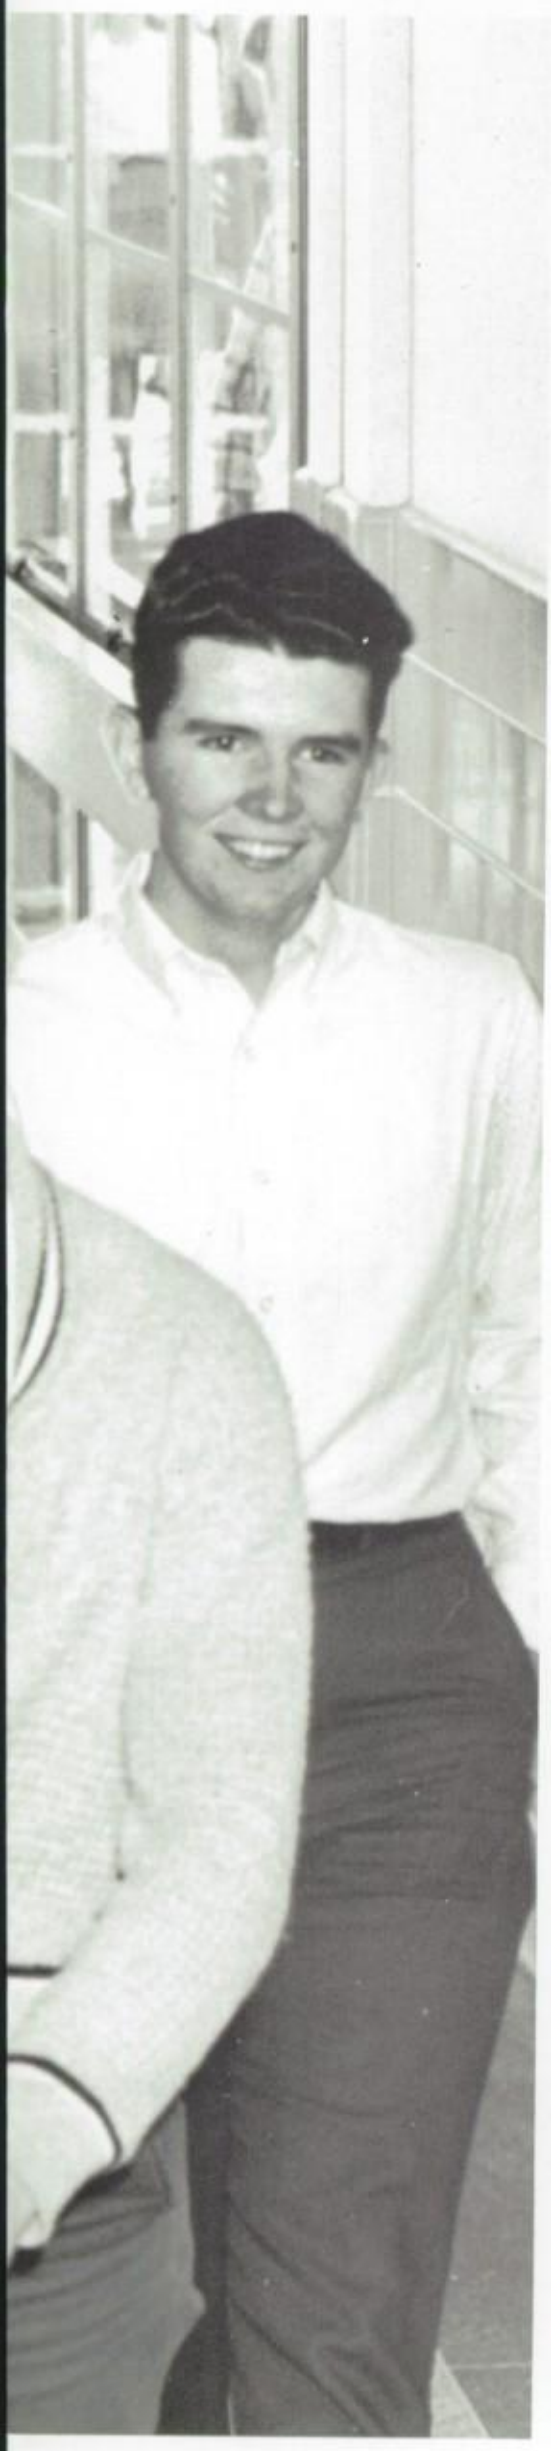
Cafeteria Staff includes: Mrs. Alma Smith, Mrs. Thelma Young, Mrs. Sara Grove, Mrs. Phyllis Keller. Second Row: Mrs. Viola Schumuck, Mrs. Ida Stabley, Mrs. Betty Barshinger, Mrs. Ida Fauth and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, manager.



Janitors, Ammon Markel, Charles Blouse, Wiley Flinchbaugh, Howard Reno, Marvin Overmiller and Theresa Waltemyer keep the building and school area clean.

Truman Ehrhart and Charles Knisely, night custodians, clean up after a busy day. Many of the janitors may be found on the school grounds at all times.

Preparing to mow the lawns of the school grounds, Ammon Markel is about to perform one of the weekly tasks of a janitor during the summer months of the school term.



Underclassmen

Freshmen

The new group of Freshmen, straight from junior high school, soon make their arrival known with their pep, their enthusiasm and their school spirit. Of course the first objective is to become acquainted with the new courses, the new surroundings and the new classmates. However, once they learn exactly how the school is operated, these students really get down to work.

Struggling to become a part of the school, these fellow classmates soon prove their many abilities by attending all sorts of sports events, by participating in all clubs open to them and by joining in a number of the activities which the school provides for them.

Yes, the Freshmen have made a good start and are looking forward to the time when they will be upperclassmen; certainly the school wishes them the best of luck in whatever they attempt to do.

Standing very proudly are the newly elected officers of the Freshman Class: Virginia Myers, president; Carolsue Posy, vice-president; Julie Kline, secretary; Barbara Stabley, treasurer.

Sophomores

Sophomores, who are no longer the newest members of the school, are quick to adjust to school life. Having their freshman year behind them, these experienced students plunge into organizations full of ideas. Besides supplying new ideas, they contribute to a number of projects, plan for interesting dances and accept responsibilities. Also, because they have the privilege to participate in varsity sports, some of the boys are quite active on the junior varsity teams. Likewise, some of the girls make up a part of the cheerleading and majorette squads. Not only do they share in extra-curricular activities but also help to fill the honor roll list.

Indeed, the sophomore students play a leading role in the life of our school. Willingly, the class assumes their share of the many high school responsibilities.

Competent officers of the Sophomore Class are: Sam Neff, treasurer; Barbara Holtzapple, secretary; James Zarfoss, vice-president; James Garner, president.

Juniors

Nearing the climax in high school life, that of becoming seniors, the juniors are accustomed to school life as cheerleaders, majorettes, basketball, and football players, band members, Leonid apprentices and in various other ways. They now have the chance to present their first real play, to experience their own prom and to become eligible for membership into the National Honor Society. Eagerly looking forward to their last year, the class of '66 are already thinking about their class motto and colors.

Finally, thoughts will be turning to future education, future vocations and future plans in general.

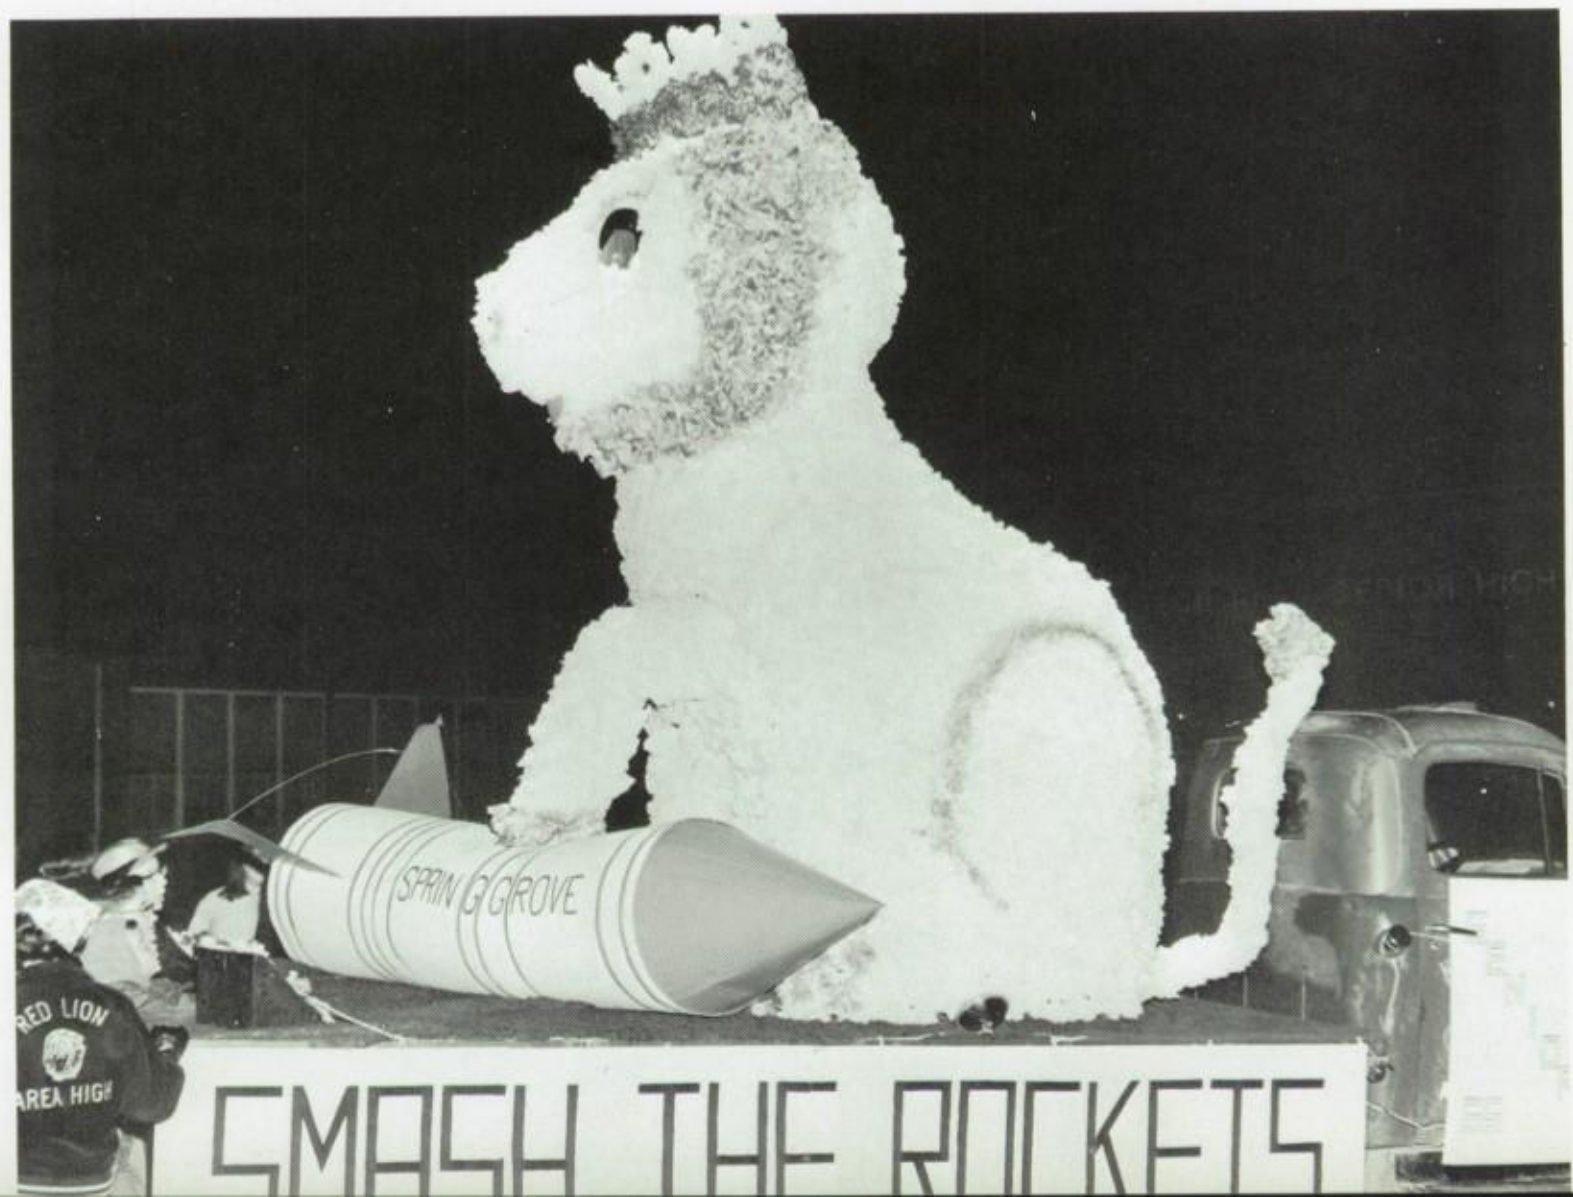
Homecoming

Homecoming Weekend is a big event in Red Lion. It begins as the members of each class gather to work on their floats. The school begins to show the influence of the spirit as candidates for Homecoming Queen are chosen by ballot and as cheerleaders hang signs to further encourage the team, as the weekend approaches, work on the floats becomes more intense. Then comes the big night, Friday, with the football team, Homecoming Queen semi-finalists and the floats wending their way through the town's cheering people. In the square the band, cheerleaders, majorettes, and fans await the assembled team. After addresses by Mr. Zebre, Mr. Gibbs, Mayor Fishel, Coach Fitzkee and his assistants, Mr. Urey and Mr. Shellenberger, comes the long awaited announcement of the judges' decision — the winner of the float contest. Queen Barbara Jackson was crowned before the game by the Senior class president, James Delhamer. Climaxing the weekend's activities was the Homecoming Dance over which the queen and her court presided.

Our Homecoming Queen, pretty Barbara Jackson, takes time out long enough to pose for our Lion photographer. Barb was chosen our Homecoming Queen by popular vote of the students.

Mighty Leo still reigns victorious! The senior float pictured here held a theme which met the anticipation of the students as Red Lion smashed the Rockets in the '64 Homecoming Game. This float took first prize in the annual parade.



During the Homecoming Parade, the artistic abilities of the Sophomores are shown by this float. The Lions followed the theme by grounding Spring Grove the next day.

A mighty, green dragon driving a yellow sports car was the Juniors' float for the Homecoming Parade. They received honorable mention by the judges.

Although their float didn't win a prize, these Freshmen are proudly standing beside it after the Homecoming Parade.

Mr. Fitzkee leads the way as the smiling faculty team enters the gym before the game.

Faculty vs Varsity

The highlight of an evening of basketball at the Red Lion High School gym was a friendly game between the varsity team and the faculty. The faculty claimed they were the best on the pretense of their "age and experience." But the varsity retaliated by saying that they were "young and spry," and that they were still in shape from the basketball season that had just ended.

The faculty was able to control the ball and the boards while the varsity was able to shoot more accurately. At times it looked as though the faculty were going to win the game with no difficulty, but the varsity team couldn't be counted out because they fought from behind and closed the gap to a few points. The faculty had to hold off a last minute rally to win, 60-56.

Proceeds from the game went toward a school athletic scholarship fund set up by the Red Lion Area Teachers' Association.

We wonder to whose advantage this jump shot was. We surely hope it wasn't the faculty!

Organizations

Lion Staff

No one knows just how much work is involved in composing a good yearbook except the staff itself. These loyal workers give up most of their free time to produce our annual.

Designing layouts, gathering information, identifying pictures, writing body copy and captions, editing typing, and proofreading are part of the daily routine for responsible staff members. After these things are accomplished, the materials are sent to our yearbook company.

The editorial staff composed of Marilyn Deardorff, Karen Ehrhart, Richard Smeltzer, Kathryn Downs, Martin Neff, and Carol Grove try to decide on the perfect wording for a caption. Camera shy: Kathleen Downs.

These efficient, nimble fingered young ladies comprise the Lion typing staff. They are Elaine Shaull, Theresa Smith, Gail Gemmill and Jo Ann Graham. The girls do not seem to mind the fact that their advisor, Mrs. Hess, may have an involved assignment for them.

Judy Dietz and Tom Smith of the Lion business staff, aided by the typists, count the day's sales.

Make-Up Staff members are Ralene Flaharty, Cynthia Howard, Richard Eline, Donna Dunlap, Beth Deardorff.

Co-editors of the yearbook, Nancy Kauffelt and Susan Fauth, discuss the plans for the '65 Lion.

Busily at work are the two members of the Business Staff, Cathie Wean and Cheryl Davis.

Sports Writers, Greg Myers, Cathie Wean, Chris Goldman, Rick Keller, and Ward Yorks check the coming Leonid.

Leonid Staff

The Leonid, our school paper, certainly keeps the students informed about all the events of the school. The staff members advised by Miss Lippman, a new teacher at Red Lion this year, are constantly writing articles concerning the school and its members. Published monthly, the paper records all the school activities of that month. Although a member has many hours of extra work, each agrees that it is worth while.

Leonid news writers: V. Beaverson, R. Tyson, L. Hively, D. Walker, M. A. Shue, S. Flinchbaugh, E. Sechrist, S. Neff, L. Buecker, M. Green, M. Gove, C. Davis, S. Emenheiser, L. Pomraning.

Typists for the Leonid are Kira Trout, Darlene Brown, Patsy Dellinger, Pat Hueter, Donna Sowards, and Darlene Laird.

Being co-editors of the '64-'65 Leonid Staff, Susan Emenheiser and Linda Pomraning are kept very busy as they organize our school paper.

Miss Lippman discusses future artistic plans for the Leonid with Cindi Keesey, the Art Editor.

Feature writers are Carol Clapper, Donna Emenheiser, Stephanie Stabley, Jo Shive, Rodney Haugh, James Delhamer, Philip Kehr, David Bartholemew, and Galen Byrd.

Student Governing Body

Democratic representation through student self-government is the desirous goal of our school's Student Council. Its emphasis has been aimed toward closer cooperation between the student body and administration, protection of students' rights, and promotion of enthusiastic interest and expression in school government. Representatives from each homeroom assemble every Thursday and work out the school policies. Holding the general welfare and betterment of each student foremost among its concerns, Student Council has increased school social life while also stressing capable and worthwhile student leadership.

Dale Emmenheiser looks on as newly elected Student Council Officers, Bill Reed, President; Alana Forry, Secretary-Treasurer; and Craig Ellis, Vice President; discuss plans for future Student Council activities.

The Theme, Christmas Enchantment, cast a beautiful spell on the Christmas dance. This annual affair is sponsored by our Student Council and is held in the gymnasium, which was transformed into an appropriate seasonal setting.

These students are being good citizens of our school as they vote for the 1965 Student Council Officers.

Musical Organizations

Music, the universal language, is deeply appreciated at Red Lion. Duties of Mr. George Ward, head of the instrumental department, include directing the marching band, concert band, orchestra, dance band and related organizations.

Singing to chase the blues away, to help observe holidays or just for fun are specialties of Red Lion's choral organizations, directed by Mrs. Dorothy Adams.

Our instrumental and choral organizations combine to present our annual "Night of Music", and during the Christmas Season, a Christmas assembly is presented to all the students and faculty.

Our popular Lionnaires; Carolyn Brant, Richard Smeltzer, Dennis Smith and Galen Byrd, plan for future performances.

National Honor Society

It is an honor for any student to be eligible for membership in the National Honor Society. In order to become a member, each person must be a very active participant in extracurricular activities at school, at home, and in the community. Besides this, it is necessary for the student's scholastic average to be above average or excellent. Each year a small percentage of juniors and seniors are initiated into this honorary society.

Every organization must have officers to be overseers and to be certain that everything runs smoothly. Newly elected officers are Ward Yorks, President; Donna Emenheiser, Treasurer; Carol Grove, Secretary.

Seniors

"Education is an investment which pays dividends in success" is the motto of this year's Senior Class.

The senior year brings more responsibilities. Some of these responsibilities are for each individual to have his picture taken, to participate in selecting the class motto, colors and flower, and to be measured for a cap and gown.

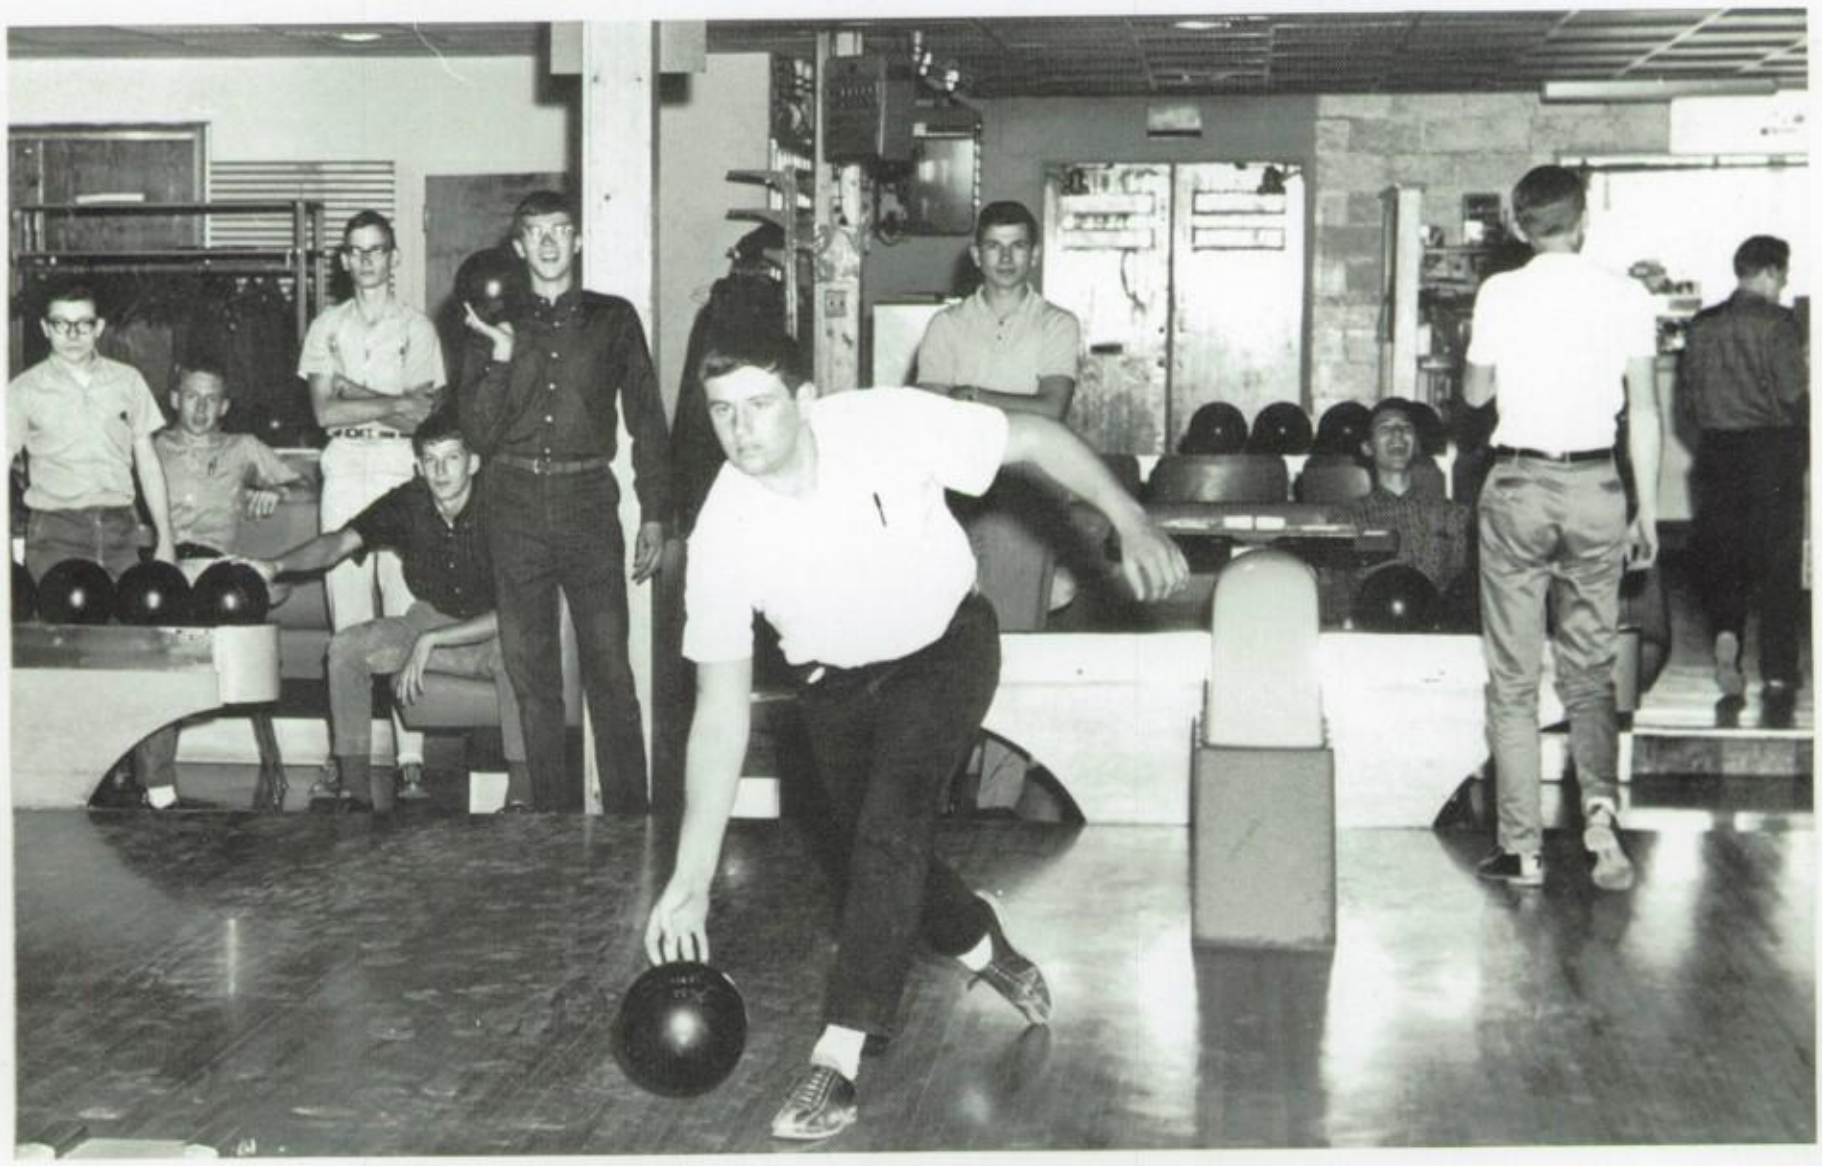
Navy blue and white were chosen as the class colors while the red rose is the class flower.

This year "Send Me No Flowers" was the senior play, portrayed by two different casts.

The senior student is coming to the end of his basic education. From high school he may continue his education by studying at a higher institute or by pursuing a job, but no matter what each one attempts, he will gain knowledge from what he accomplishes.

Is this a part of our physical fitness program? No! Charles Rost is just demonstrating the durability of aluminum during an assembly presented by Mr. Michael Talcott, a space biologist.

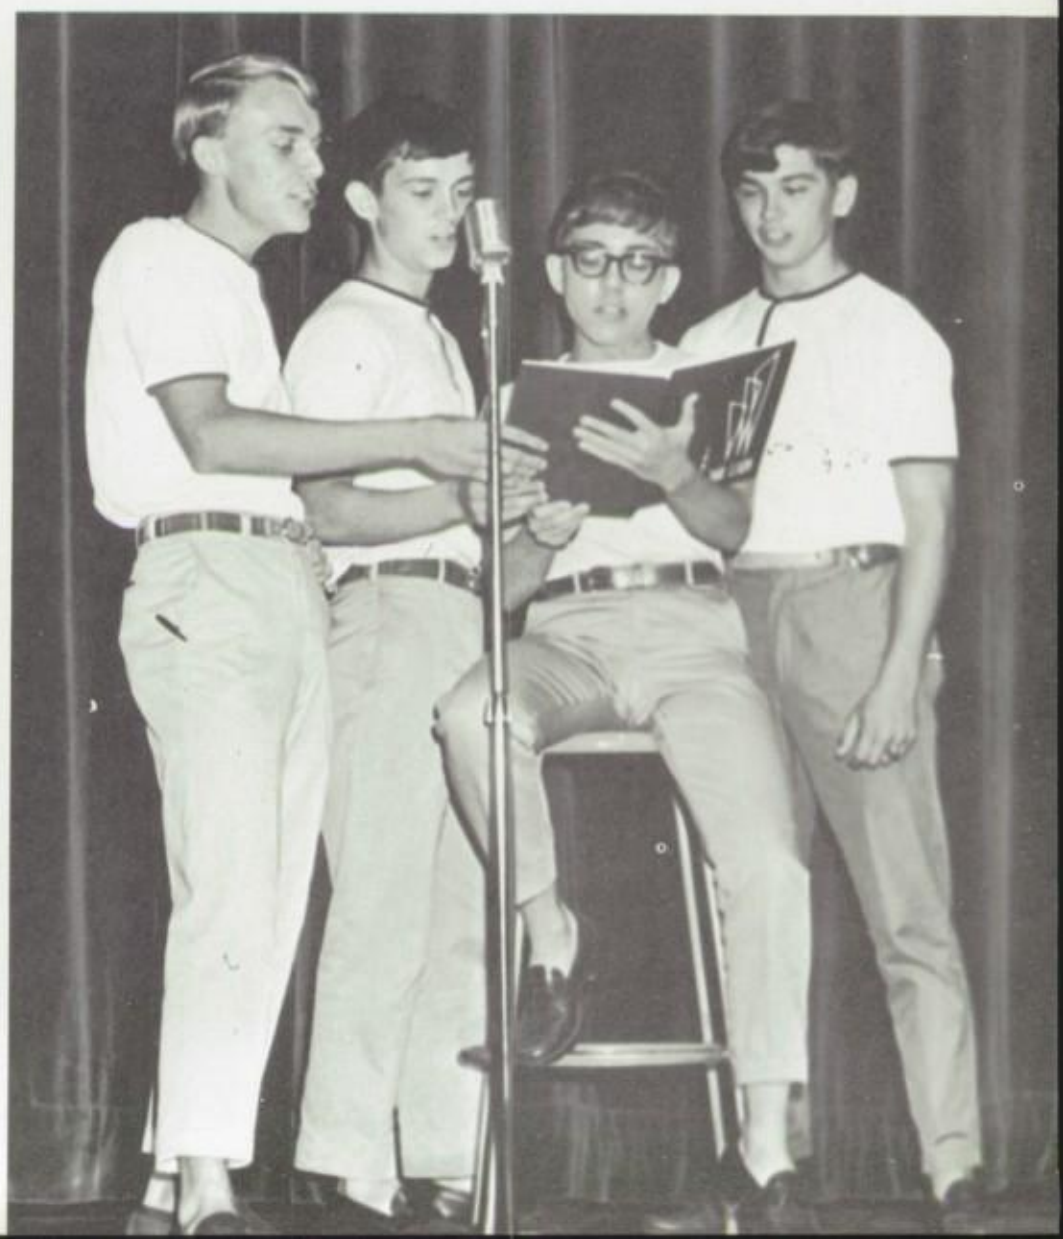
Nevin Posey rolls for a strike as other senior classmates watch eagerly. Bowling is a favorite sport in the physical education department at Red Lion High.



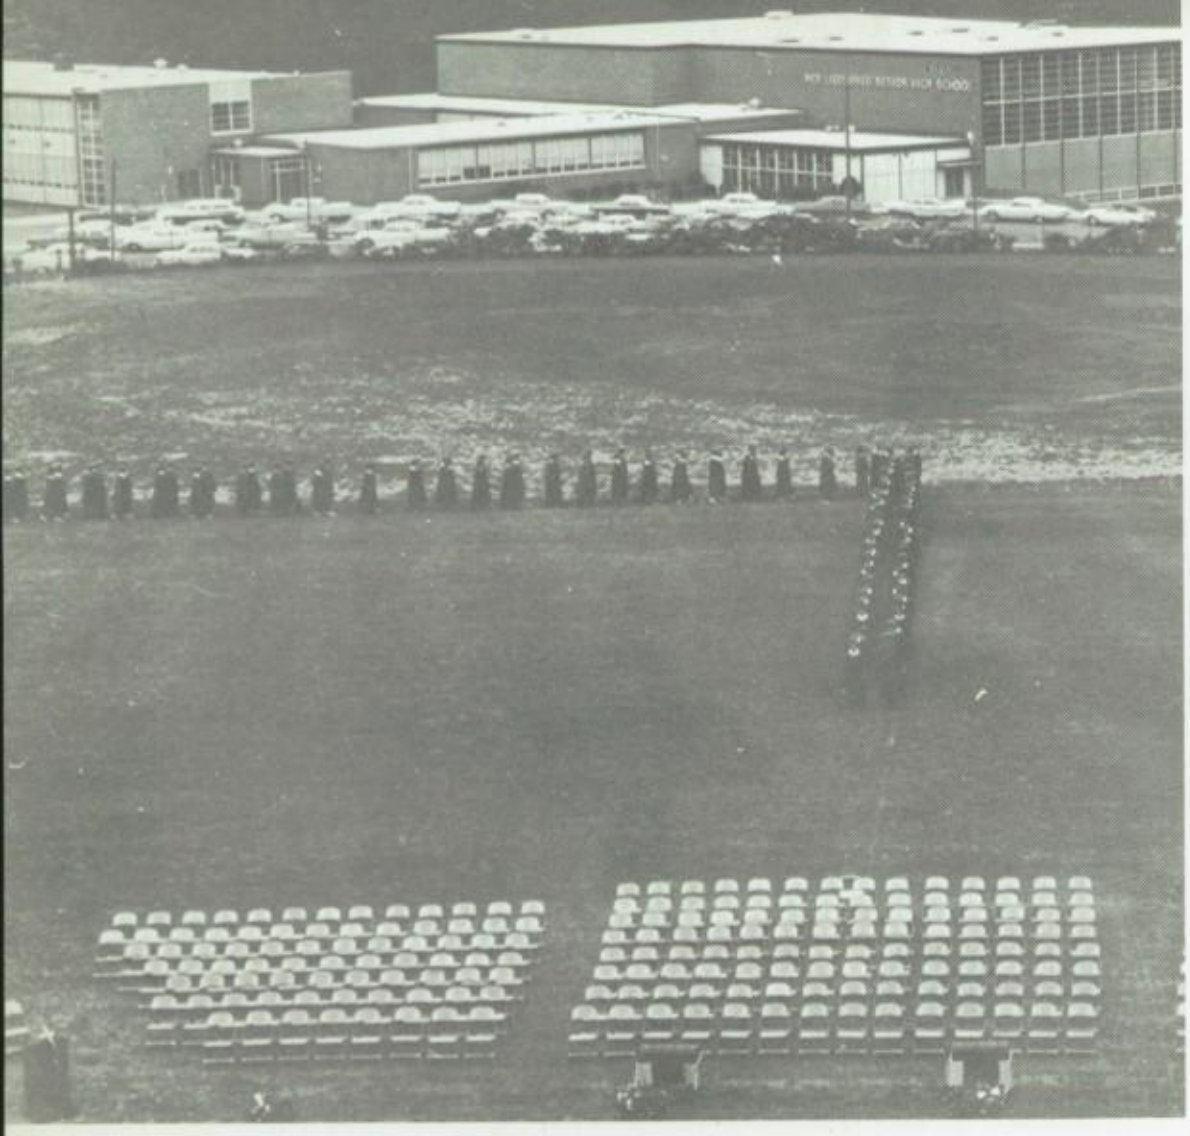
Treva, is this the latest fashion? Certainly not! But in the future this space outfit may be the rage. Mr. Talcott explains the mechanism of the suit.

Of all places to have a flat tire, the school parking lot! However, Fred Arnold doesn't seem to mind. Donald Gipe, why don't you help?

Adding a bit of humor to the Lion assembly, James Delhamer, Tom Burns, Phil Kerr and Larry Snyder compose a song of their own as they promote yearbook sales.



Special Events



Seniors file to their seats for commencement exercises held on the Horn Athletic Field.

Graduation

For the first time, graduation this year was held out-of-doors on the Horn Athletic Field. A number of speeches, including five from members of the graduating class and another from the class president, were presented with the key-note address, "Learning Individuality," given by Dr. Fred T. Wilhelms. The long awaited moment arrived as Mr. Sample and Mr. Snyder handed each senior his diploma.

"Those Were the Years That Were" was the theme for the '64 Class Day. The action changed from present to past as recent happenings at Red Lion Area Senior High turned to the last four memorative years of school life. The program drew to a close with the class theme, song and poem.

Mr. Donald Snyder, President of the school board, addresses the audience at the first outdoor commencement.

James Hyson, defining the word "oscar," interjects as the emcee, Vicki Young, moderates a mock Oscar Awards Show for the annual Class Day.

Gouker's Gang, composed of senior band members, entertains the underclassmen for the last time at the Class Day assembly, "Those Were The Years That Were." This distinguished group amuses the audience with many familiar jazz numbers.

Junior-Senior Prom

Students, attired in formal raiment, arrived at the annual Junior-Senior Prom, "An Evening in Paris," excited and vivacious. Before the couples began their evening of fun, they were greeted by the receiving line. After they were welcomed, they glided blithely to the melodies created by the "Walter Carl Orchestra." From twelve until five a.m. the young people watched movies and played wiffle-ball.

Enjoying themselves at the refreshment table in the lobby, these seniors gather to chat with a few faculty members.

These fun loving seniors, Dennis Deardorff, Sharon Druck, Thomas Sechrist and Keith McCleary are decorating for the prom. I wonder how much they are really getting accomplished?

Induction into the National Honor Society is the reward for the efforts and hard work of deserving students.

National Honor Society Inducts

Diana Shermeyer holds the charter as David Pfaltzgraff officially adds his name to the National Honor Society.

Cheryl Davis, a newly inducted member, gives a proud grin as Kay Shermeyer pins the colors of the National Honor Society on her gown.

Senior Play

"Send Me No Flowers," a three act comedy was presented by the 1965 Senior Class. George Kimball was a hypochondriac who was married to a vivacious housewife. The entire play deals with the problems that the Kimballs have due to George's hypochondria.

Jan Barnhart as Mr. Akins convinces Bob Galbreath to purchase a cemetery lot for three. The three inhabitants are to be Bob, his wife and her second husband.

Seniors Present 'Send Me

The entire cast returns to the stage for a moment of recognition for their job well done.

George Kimball begs Bert a rich Texas playboy, portrayed by Richard Eline, to take good care of his wife after George dies.

No Flowers'

Larry Snyder is preparing to take the defensive as Stephanie Stabley and Richard Eline talk about their past college romance.

Larry seems to be enjoying the ride as Stephanie helps him across the stage.

Miss Mitchell and Sherry Knokey apply make up to Stephanie Stabley and Michael Miller.

Enjoying themselves at an early morning Latin Breakfast, initiated by Miss Clevenger, are members of the Latin II and III classes. Students dressed in Roman garb and ate traditional Roman food.

Pam Sechrist, portraying Helen Keller and Peggy Karr, depicting Ann Sullivan, are two of the main characters of the play, The Miracle Worker.

Rodney Haugh appears as Mark Anthony in the sophomore production of Julius Caesar. It seems as if each participant is heeding Rodney's invitation to "lend me your ears." The ability of these young actors looks promising for future dramatizations.

Aids to Students

Among the many services offered to the students at Red Lion Area High, two of the greatest aids are School and College Night, held alternately at Red Lion and Dallastown. The college-bound pupil is offered an opportunity to talk with representatives of his favorite school or college and benefit from the materials brought by each of them.

Career Day is another important occasion for the industrious student. Representatives for different occupations and professions assemble to help guide the student on the way to a choice of his future occupation.

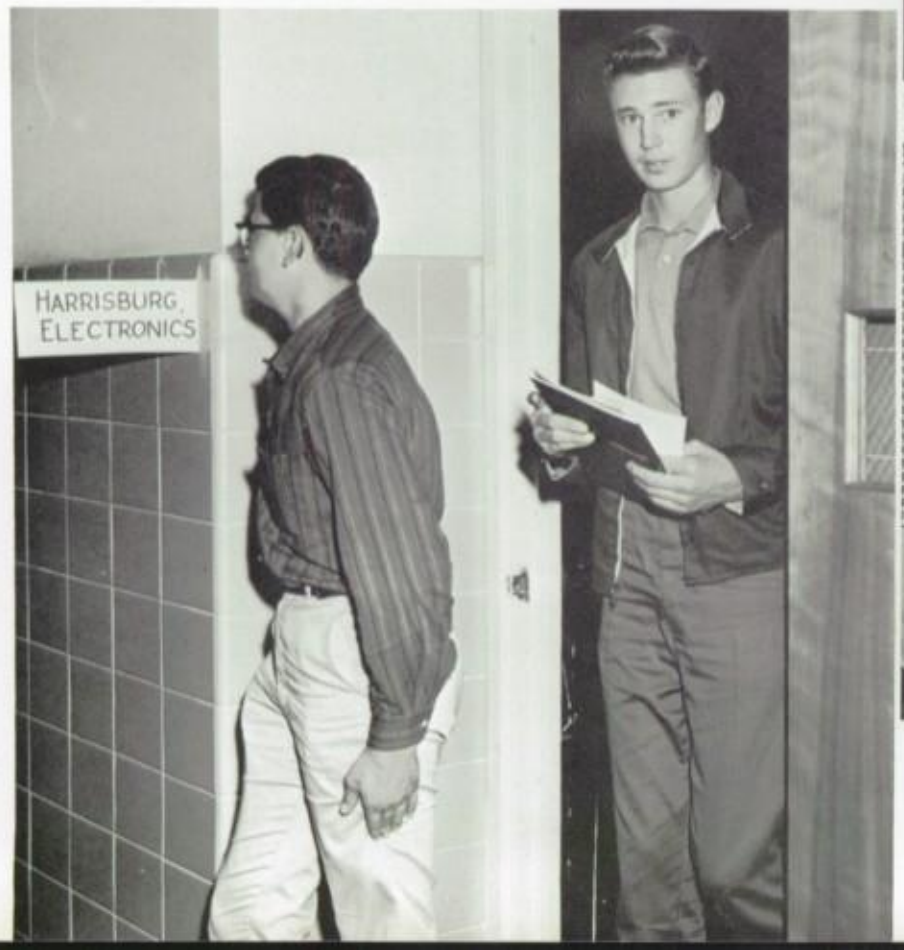
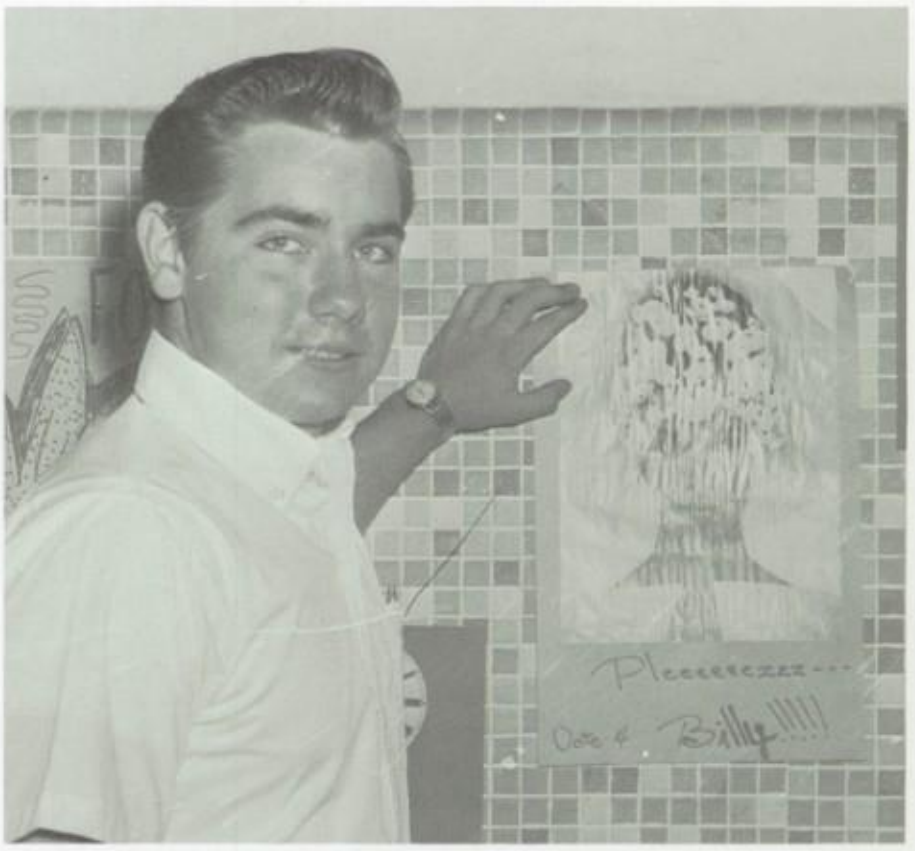
Many students attended the College Night held at Dallastown this year. Shown here are college bound students and parents entering the room of the representatives from Franklin and Marshall.

In planning for further education and occupations, College Night aids many students. Leaving the electronics department are Gwen Wise and a fellow student.





Bill Reed, a hopeful for the office of Student Council President, points to one of the many unique advertisements which bears his name during the campaign. The results of his campaign were rewarding.

A group of seniors learn the democratic system of voting during the '64 Student Council Election.

Student Council Election

Susan Emenheiser seems to be quite enthralled as she presides over the mock student council meeting during the '64 campaign. This assembly is always a highlight of the school year.

Registrar, Rodney Haugh, appears to take interest in his position as Jerry Stearn casts his ballot for Student Council Officers. Stewart Stokes and Linda Tyson await their turn.

Nancy Kauffelt, our versatile senior pianist, entertains at the assembly preceding the Night of Music with her splendid rendition, accompanied by the school concert band.

Night of Music

Mrs. Dorothy Adams and Mr. George Ward directed the Senior High Night of Music with each musical organization participating. Solos by the drummer, tuba player, and trumpeter opened the program.

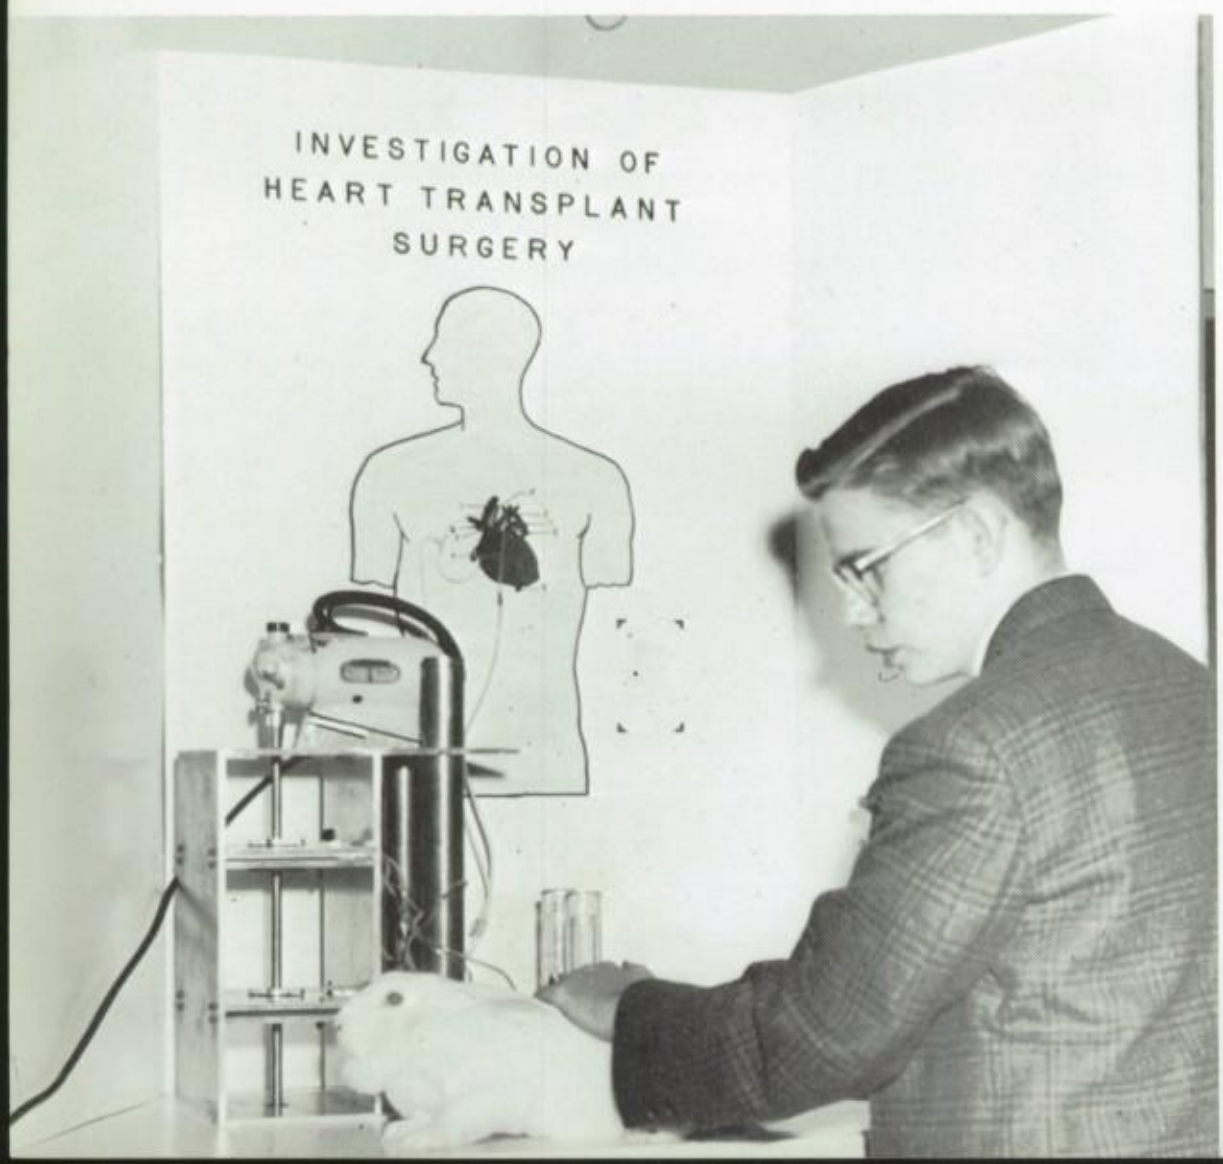
The Boys' Chorus had to sing above the playing instruments in "McNamara's Band." The orchestra played "June is Bustin' Out All Over," from Carousel as one of their selections. Additional numbers were presented by the Lionnaires, Stage Band, Flute Choir, Clarinet Quintet and Brass Sextet. For the finale the band and choruses combined to present selections from My Fair Lady.

Trumpeter Greg Keller, a '64 graduate, provides an excellent interpretation of "Napoli" before the enthralled audience at the Night of Music.

Led by Mrs. Dorothy Adams, the Girls' Chorus bursts forth in song to entertain a large audience.

Carole Grim displays her artistic talent before a very interested audience. We wonder what this particular scene depicts?

During the annual Shop Exhibit students and parents take the opportunity to observe the accomplishments of the students in the field of Practical Arts.



George Lighty displays his project at the annual Science Exhibition. This project is truly an outstanding show of scientific knowledge.

School Exhibits

Four areas, science, art, shop and home economics, were featured at the high school's Exhibit Night.

The science field constituted the main portion with displays of biology, chemistry, physics, some general science and consumer's science. Adults and students saw projects dealing with radioactivity, infra-red detector, robots, heart and lung machines and the generation of electricity by bacteria.

In the art section were examples of oil paintings, ceramics, chalk drawings and sketches.

Seen in the shop exhibit were a miniature motorcycle, machine shop projects including wrought iron furniture and a spinning demonstration.

The home economics department exhibited all types of clothing including suits, dresses, skirts, blouses and other handwork which the girls had made throughout the year.

Interesting and Educational Assemblies

Folk singers from Dallastown take part in an exchange assembly sponsored each year by our Student Council.

Having presented several awards to the football players, Mr. Fitzkee is shown shaking hands with John Pitzer. In the assembly, students with various abilities and skills are given an award.

Students are avidly debating the objectives of both Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater for President at the mock election assembly.

A Dramatic Presentation

"Love is Eternal" was presented by this year's senior class for their Junior Play. The story, centering around Mary Todd Lincoln began with her life as a young lady. Several years later, she visited a married sister in Illinois. Because she was attractive and well-educated, she had many admirers. From these suitors she chose Abraham Lincoln. The Todds, who were quite prominent socially, objected to this man. Despite her family's criticism, Mary married Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Lincoln worked his way up in politics to the Presidency. For him to reach this position was Mary Todd's greatest ambition. As the First Lady, she worked along side her husband encouraging him to sign the Emancipation Proclamation.

Depicting Mary Todd, Susan Fauth gives Richard Smeltzer, portraying Ninian Edwards, a look of contempt as he tries to convince her that she should not marry Abraham Lincoln.

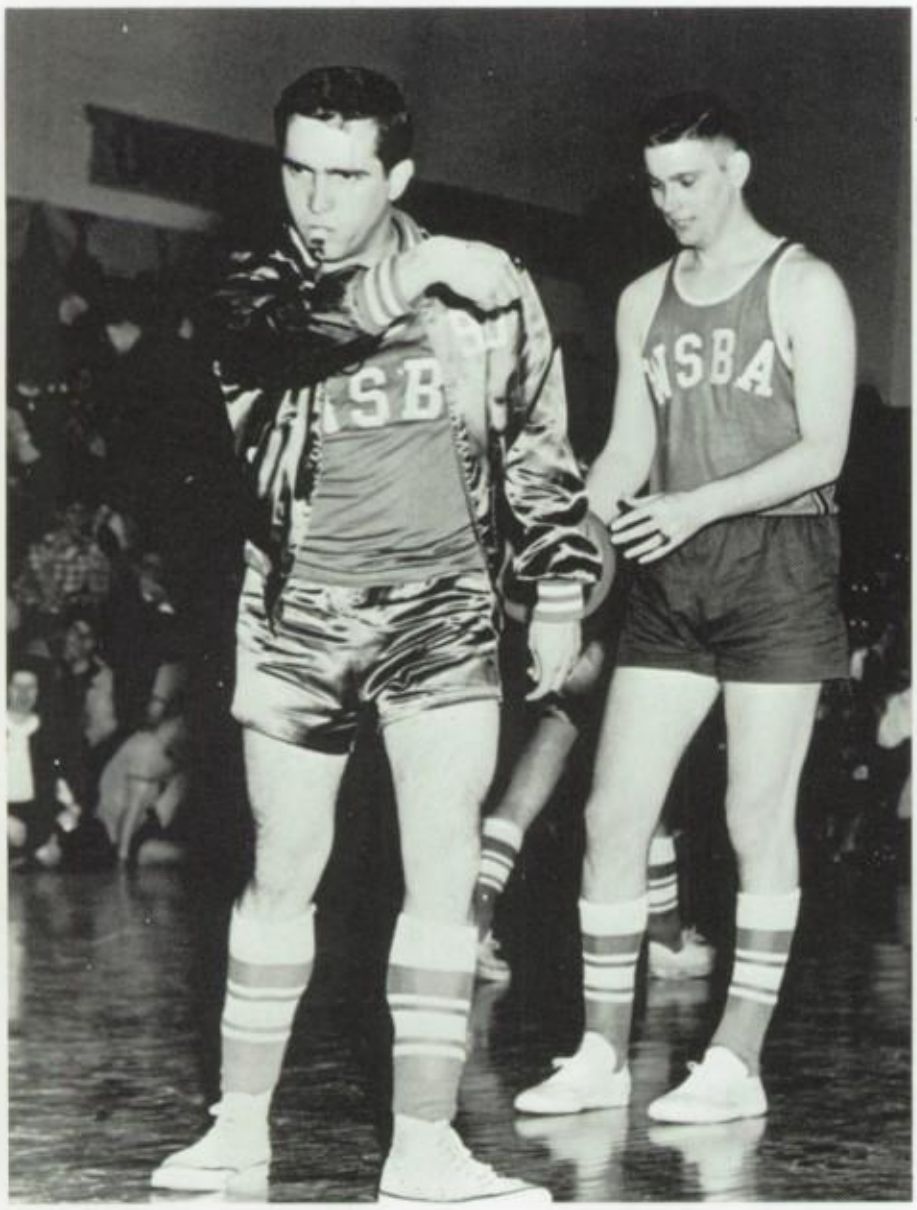
Juniors Stage 'Love Is Eternal'

Beth Kinard, a taxpayer, emphatically states her purpose as Carol Clapper, Richard Waltemeyer, and George Baerreis listen. By the expressions on their faces, Beth must have an urgent problem. We wonder who it took to solve her problem.

The cast of "Love is Eternal" looks on as Abraham Lincoln portrayed by Chris Goldman, signs the well-known Emancipation Proclamation, freeing the slaves. His wife, Mary Todd Lincoln, played by Susan Fauth, stands by to reassure her husband.

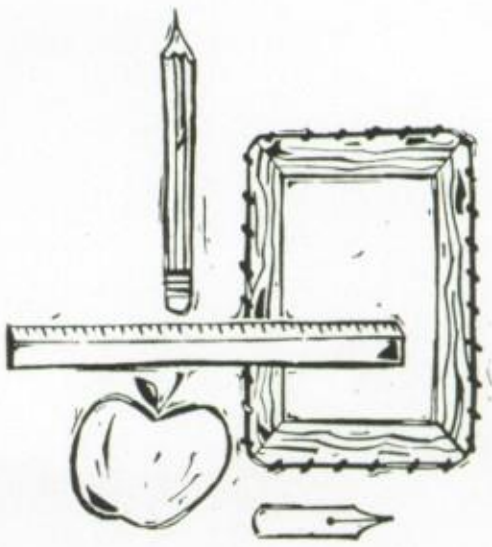
Chris Goldman ponders the thought of signing the Emancipation Proclamation as his wife, Susan Fauth, and a taxpayer, Beth Kinard, watch.

Beverly Stabley seems to have convinced Richard Smeltzer that they should depart as Michael Miller looks on wonderingly.



Calling a foul on a member of the Red Lion faculty's basketball team, Ralph Lockwood, a WSBA good guy, referees that Johnny Mitchell, who is also from WSBA, should make a foul shot. The game's proceeds were put into the Faculty Scholarship Fund.

Mr. Robert Christopher, a well-known author and traveler, displays his Arabian turban and camel saddle which he obtained on a trip around the world with eighty dollars in his pocket.



Appreciated by all the faculty members was the tea party sponsored in the cafeteria by the Future Teachers Club. Starting the line to be served are Mr. Millis, Mr. Shaffer, and Mrs. Miller.

Christmas Enchantment, the Christmas Dance, sponsored annually by the Student Council, is proving to be an enjoyable evening for all who are dancing in the midst of the beautiful decorations.

Valentine's Day brings not only a romantic feeling to the young at heart but also a beautiful dance to Red Lion High. Cupid's Paradise, the theme of the Student Council dance, was a huge success.

Linda Buecker and Bill Reed crown the King and Queen of Hearts, Wayne Neff and Delores Kline respectively, at our Valentine's Dance. The dance, another project of the Student Council, proved to be a great success.

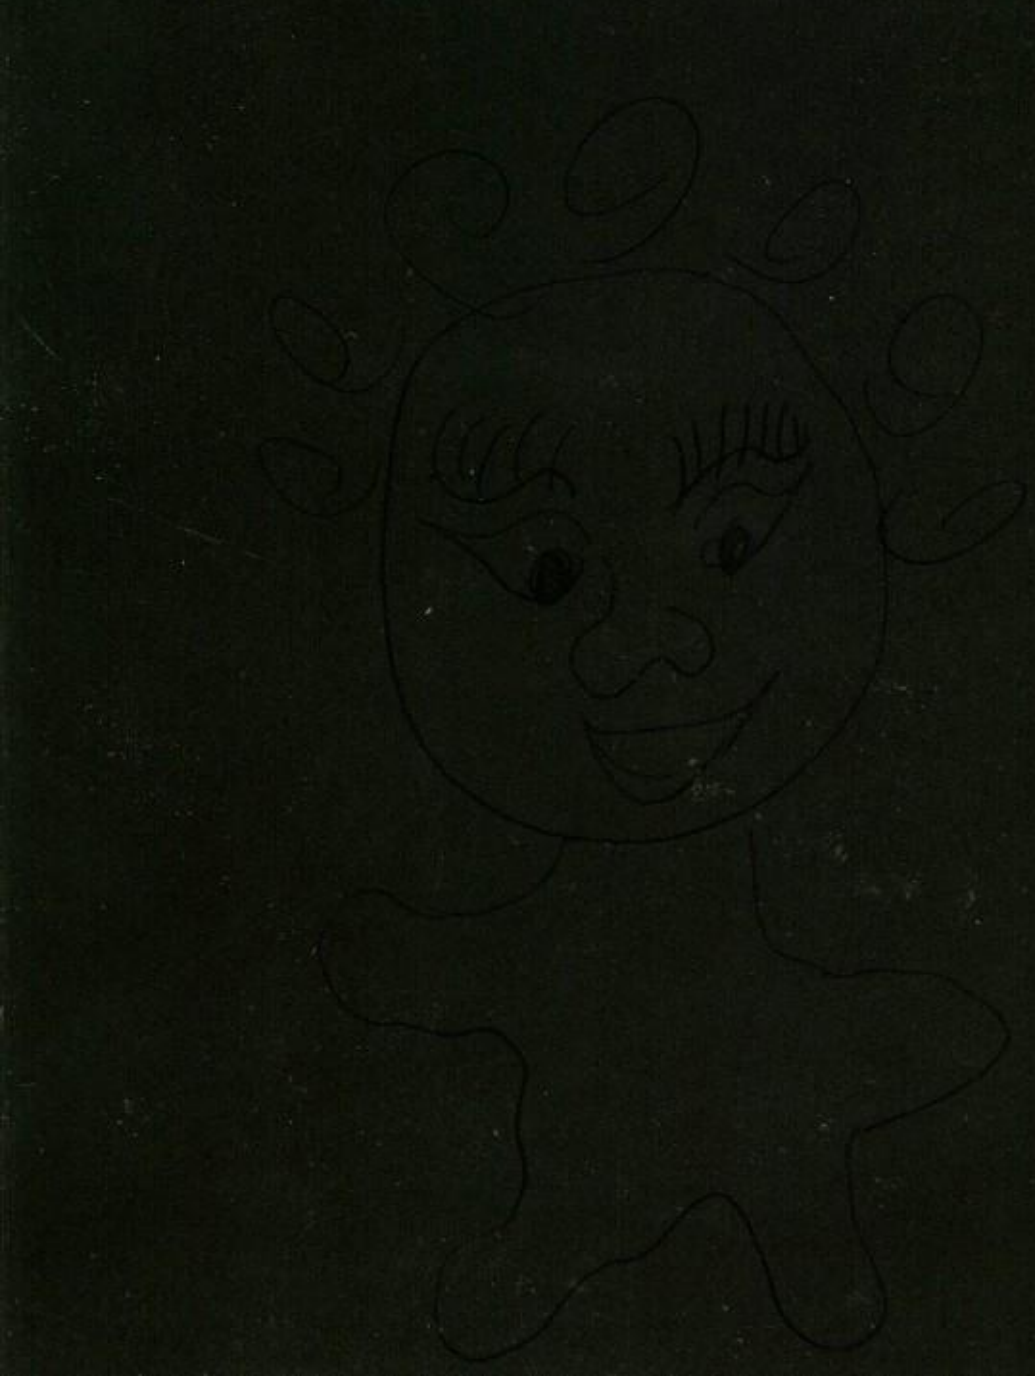
FINIS

Although utopian peace will never be effected, we have strived to compromise towards harmony through the knowledge gained at Red Lion from books, lectures and experiences.

Therefore, we shall always seek peace through education.



Bonnie,
To a swell friend who walks to school with me.
Never forget those great shorthand classes and your friend Mr. Snyder.
(Very "good" friend-HA! HA!)
Best of luck in all your future plans.

Bonnie,
To a very sweet girl
in my English class
has a personality.
Keep the personality
you have and you are sure to be successful in the years to come. Best of Luck
Bill

P.S. Bonnie,
Have a good summer.
Don't do anything I wouldn't do.
Who does? Cheerio!
Have a happy Christmas and a lucky New Year.
Love,
Jo

Bonnie,
To a real cute kid with a real cute voice to match. Never forget all those great times we had together. Take care of that special boy, whoever he may be.
God Luck in all you may attempt to do.

Bonnie,
To a really sweet kid in the greatest class ever. Never forget all the "nice" English classes with Mrs. Hess, especially the day she walked out. Good luck in the future.
Take care of that special boy.

Dear lovely Bonnie,
Well, dear it's that time of year when we must once again be parted. I'm simply deeimated. I don't know what I'll ever in my life do without you beside me day in and day out, I think I'll just die! I like roses. Remember always those refreshing activity periods that we spent in the boiler room with our fellow sexy-walker, Clevy. Well, I99y, keep up that squeaky voice, charming smile, remember how much I love and adore you, and once in awhile think of someone that wrote this little eulogy.

—Mary Jo

Bonnie,
To a real cute girl
I walk to school with.
Never forget those great years of R.H.S. and me!
